How can PACC help the vet community take over medical care for our adopted pets once they leave the shelter?

What could PACC do to be a better community partner?

Even though PACC is saving approximately 90% of the 17,000 pets who come through its doors each year, many treatable pets are still not being saved due to lack of veterinary support/time. What, if any, groups of pets would your practice like to help us save?

- a. Young kittens
- b. Senior/geriatric dogs and cats
- c. Puppies with parvo/distemper
- d. Cruelty/neglect cases
- e. Pets hit by cars or attacked by animals

What do you think is the biggest barrier to PACC finding vets to do relief shifts at PACC?

- a. Work is too hard/too sad
- b. Already too busy
- c. Don't know there is a need
- d. Other (please specify)

PACC has been unsuccessful at recruiting two, additional veterinarians, despite offering a starting salary between $95 and $110,000. What do you think PACC could do to find much-needed vets for its brand-new, state-of-the-art clinic?

- a. Pay a higher salary
- b. Change the way the organization operates
- c. Provide incentives to vets
- d. Offer flexible work hours/schedules
- e. Other
