

Cynthia Faux, DVM, PhD, DACVIM-LA
Bio

Dr. Faux is a graduate of Iowa State University College of Veterinary Medicine. She left private mixed animal practice to do a residency in large animal medicine at North Carolina State University and is boarded in Large Animal Internal Medicine. She joined the AVMA Veterinary Medical Assistance Team program in 1996 and was deployed to the World Trade Center terrorist attacks response and spent a month at the Hurricane Katrina response in Louisiana. She joined the Washington State Department of Agriculture Animal Services team as a field veterinarian and coordinator of the WSDA Reserve Veterinary Corps before joining the faculty at Washington State University College of Veterinary Medicine where she taught anatomy, disaster response, and honey bee medicine. She has been deployed to the Route 530 (Oso, Washington) landslide response with the WSDA-RVC, and is a member of the National Veterinary Response Team. She is currently on the faculty of the new University of Arizona College of Veterinary Medicine.